

“The role of business is never neutral in contexts of fragility, during conflict, and during recovery. [...] In conflict-affected contexts, businesses face higher risks. But they also have a higher calling.”

MARCOS NETO, UN ASSISTANT SECRETARY-GENERAL, UNDP · OSLO, APRIL 2025

Responsible Business in Conflict Zones

Balancing Business and Responsibility: Entering New Markets

FOR boards, country managers, CSR/ESG, compliance and risk teams of international companies

The role of companies in conflict and peace processes

International companies are no longer bystanders in fragile regions. A new plant, supply chain or operation can deepen tensions or help build stability.

EUROBOGEN helps you do the second: grow your business while strengthening the communities you operate in.

What we offer

We support international corporations in managing geopolitical risk and good governance when entering or operating in fragile markets.

We stay with you from site selection for new plants, factories and operations through to long-term presence on the ground.

We build bridges between your business, local people and public institutions.

Where we work: from Europe to the field

IN EUROPE · AT YOUR HEADQUARTERS

- Board and management briefings
- Pre-departure training for teams
- Setting up due-diligence processes

ON THE GROUND · CONFLICT-AFFECTED AREAS

Sub-Saharan Africa

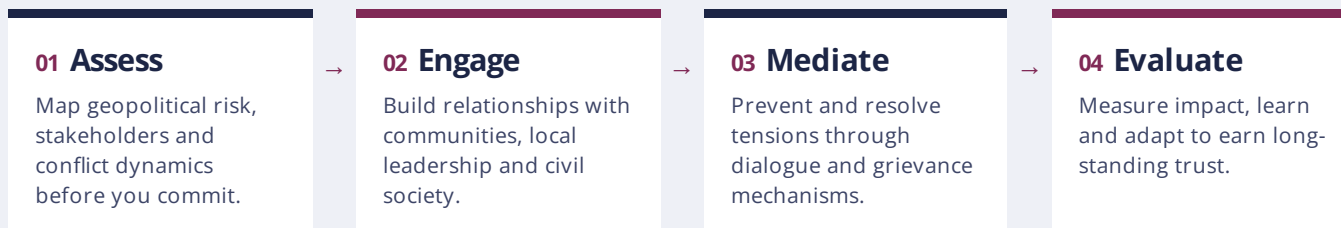

Middle East & North Africa

Eastern Europe & the Caucasus

Latin America

South & Southeast Asia

Our approach in four steps

Our work streams

- CSR and stakeholder management: systematic work with local populations, leaders and civil society.
- Mediation and mitigation: identifying tensions early, before they escalate.
- Learning and training: conflict-sensitive skills for managers and local teams (Qualiopi certified in France).
- Project management and evaluation: measurable goals, monitoring, learning.
- Transmission and transformation: turning insight into lasting change.

Our expertise

- Assembling a team of senior experts with the right background for your industry and project
- Grievance management and complaint mechanisms
- De-escalation and peaceful conflict resolution
- Negotiation with state and non-state actors
- Cultural savvy and local languages
- Respect for indigenous and traditional social structures
- Strengthening good governance and the rule of law

Beyond compliance

Due-diligence rules for business are tightening worldwide. We help you do more than meet the minimum: we aim for higher levels of compliance, which keeps you one step ahead of changing regulation.
